AYLESFORD LAKE BEACH REOPENED TO SWIMMING Aylesford Lake Beach reopened to swimming effective immediately

KINGS COUNTY, NS: The County of Kings is pleased to advise residents that Aylesford Lake Beach has been reopened to swimming effective immediately. The closure was due to higher than allowable counts of bacteria present in the water.

To remove the closure order, two consecutive sets of clear samples must be taken 24 hours apart. Both sets of tests have come back negative and the water at Aylesford Lake Beach is therefore deemed safe again for swimming.

The County of Kings apologizes for any inconvenience the closure may have caused.

BROADCAST:

The County of Kings wishes to advise residents that Aylesford Lake Beach has been reopened to swimming effective immediately.

The closure was due to higher than allowable amounts of bacteria present in the water, but testing has shown that the water at Aylesford Lake Beach is deemed safe again for swimming.

The municipally operated beach is open from mid-June to early September.
