KINGS COUNTY, N.S. - Everett MacPherson is the new Deputy Mayor for the Municipality of the County of Kings.

Municipal Council elected MacPherson to serve as Deputy Mayor for one year during a regular monthly meeting Nov. 3.

“I believe that I have the life experience, in particular through my career in leadership roles in education, that allowed me to develop skills that I can transfer quite easily to this type of work,” MacPherson told his colleagues on Council prior to the vote.

Coun. Tim Harding was also nominated for the role of Deputy Mayor, a position previously held by Coun. Riley Peckford.

“I want to thank and congratulate Riley Peckford for being our Deputy Mayor for the past year. It’s been a pleasure working with you, Riley,” said Mayor Dave Corkum.

Council voted to continue with the direction of having the Deputy Mayor serve for a one-year term to allow others on Council to have the opportunity to serve in the leadership role. The Deputy Mayor takes on additional responsibilities, including filling in for the Mayor as needed.
