New app alert!

The Municipality of the County of Kings is celebrating World GIS Day with the launch of a new web-based mapping app, Kings County Public Atlas.

The aptly-named application will allow users to view a property parcel or geographic location to determine the following:

- Civic addresses
- Cultural features or assets such as trails, buildings, or heritage designations
- Boundaries such as electoral districts and polling divisions, police and fire jurisdictions, village or community boundaries
- Road ownership information
- Zoning information

Access and use the interactive mapping app here: <https://www.countyofkings.ca/services/maps.aspx>

“The recent mapping software upgrade means an innovative era of online mapping has dawned for the County of Kings,” said Monica Beaton, a Geoinformatics Specialist with the Municipality of the County of Kings.

“The Geographic Information Systems team is now able to deliver interactive, web-based maps directly to residents. These maps will be key tools for delivering map-based data and information.”

Free training workshop:

The friendly and knowledgeable Geographic Information Systems (GIS) Team at the Municipality of the County of Kings will teach members of the public how to use the app during an online “How To” Workshop on Nov. 25.

Register for the Microsoft Teams workshop here:
